Case Reference: IC-188010-V0J0

Dear Chris Bury,

Thank you for your email below. I note your comments and I can provide the following response.

In relation to this case you have reached the end of the process with us. As I explained in my case review letter and then my email to you dated 7 August 2023 we have fully considered the data protection concerns you have raised in this case and provided an outcome to you. We have also reviewed this case and provided a case review response to you. The options for you now are to take your case to court if you want a more final decision and/or raise a complaint with the PHSO if you are dissatisfied with the service you have received from us.

The advice we provided about the Investigatory Powers Tribunal stated that you "may" be able to submit a complaint to them and that the Tribunal 'considers complaint from individuals who believe they have been subject to unlawful covert surveillance by a public authority'. I note in your letter the outcome of your case with the Investigatory Powers Tribunal however I can clarify that we did not suggest in the correspondence to you that they will be able to resolve your concerns about the surveillance you state the Council carried out.

I note your reference to your other data protection case with us (under reference IC-3[redacted]) however I have not considered the issues you have raised in that case and you will need to contact the case officer who has dealt with that case if you have any concerns.

In relation to this case as I have explained above we have fully considered your data protection concerns and provided the outcome to you (which has also been reviewed). At this time we cannot add anything further to the correspondence we have exchanged with you about this case. If any future correspondence to this case repeats concerns/issues that we believe has already been addressed then these will be held on file and not responded to.

I hope the above explains our position.

Yours sincerely,

Rachel Webster
